Brief Program Descriptions

Code Purple	The Mobile Command Unit will provide rescue items to homeless Kent Countians and health and social services resources. It will also have training components for basic life skills, such as minor home repairs, for individuals transitioning to traditional housing after being incarcerated or homeless.
Cornerstone Community Center	A Community Resource location is needed in Sussex County where community members can gather, and obtain necessary information, resources and assistance related to social determinants of health.
Delaware Association for the Education of Young Children	Due to the impacts of COVID, the organization sees a need for more healthcare trainings in the community. Funds will be used to expand member services to include CPR/First Aid trainings and child development training for parents.
Edge for Tomorrow	All EDGE students have experienced at least one Adverse Childhood Experience (ACE), with most having experienced multiple ACEs and additional trauma during the COVID-19 pandemic. This small grant supports one therapist for 45 students over 38 weeks.
Exceptional Care for Children	ECC's Nutritional Services + Dietetic Care program helps our children grow and thrive by providing individual, customized nutrition support through formulary and supplemental nutrition as well as therapeutic diet development. Normally a self-sustaining program, however, this year's supply chain issues and increase in costs of raw food and tube feed have required us to seek additional funding.
First State Squash	FSS' expansion of its middle school program will increase number of students served from 40 to 65 through additional staff and will ensure students are provided exceptional athletic and wellness programming. Students receive squash training, a healthy snack and health, wellness, and nutrition guidance.
Gaudenzia	This capital request supports Delaware's only substance use disorder (SUD) treatment center for pregnant and parenting women and their children, keeping the family unit together. The facility is in Claymont with a capacity to serve 60 women and 120 children.
Harper's Heart	To increase awareness and education and bridge the gap of community resources within underserved communities, Harper's Heart will expand its Safety Course, in partnership with Highmark Health Options, Henrietta Johnson Medical Center and Delaware Department of Highway Safety. Mothers will receive training and resources on SIDS prevention, lead prevention, car seat safety and sleep safety.
Healthy Communities Delaware	HCD supports partner communities in identifying and addressing resident priorities around social determinants of health. HCD partners and their collaborative efforts are place-based, community-driven, and focused on specific vulnerabilities of that community.

Brief Program Descriptions

Pacem in Terris	The Community Health: Restoring through Relationships project is a community-based, trauma-informed intervention pilot to address neighborhood well-being and violence through relationship building, conflict resolution training and communication training via workshops in the community.
Partners for Justice	Transforming Public Defense for a Healthier Delaware trains non-attorney advocates to provide clients with case navigation and wraparound support. Funding will support efforts to address health needs: substance use and/or mental health treatment, access to health care and medications, and facilitate insurance enrollment, etc.
Public Allies	Public Health Apprenticeships for Healthy Foods for Healthy Kids – Ally will complete projects to expand HFHK public health programming to serve more diverse youth and volunteers, promote impact of HFHK, and train 50 teachers; and ChristianaCare – Ally will support public health programming from the Office of Health Equity.
Saint Francis	The Backpack Weekend Meal Program was implemented during the COVID crisis and serves children enrolled in the Free and Reduced Lunch Program in the Red Clay Consolidated School district. Backpacks contain child-friendly, easy-to-prepare food for out-of-school times. The program also offers Family Bags for those families who are experiencing a significant life change or hardship.
The Springboard Collaborative	The Georgetown Pallet Shelter Village will be the first in Delaware to provide "pallet shelters" to house up to 60 homeless individuals in Sussex county. Participants will receive wrap-around services (health care, mental health care, addiction treatment, etc.) and a caseworker to assist with permanent housing.
United Way of Delaware	The Equity Data Project will collect, curate and analyze Delaware-specific data related to equity across health, education, criminal justice, wealth creation and other areas associated with the SDOH. This will help tell a more complete story regarding health inequities, the impact they have on the health, and provide insight to inform funding and resource allocation.
University of Delaware	HEALTH Mobile provides holistic care directly in communities experiencing health disparities through partnership with 11 community-based organizations. In addition to a variety of health services and supports, it offers hands-on experience for UD students from the College of Health Sciences and several other colleges to create interdisciplinary and interprofessional development.
Vision to Learn	Vision to Learn bridges the access gap by bringing a mobile vision clinic to provide free eye exams and glasses to children at school, as well as other related screenings. Funding would cover 333 exams and approximately 267 pairs of glasses for Delaware students
YWCA	YWCA's Survivor Housing & Healing Space provides 24 months of transitional housing for survivors of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking who are homeless, including case management, emergency funds, food and hygiene products, crisis and recovery, and rental /move-out support.
